

Rita Faria (rfaria@direito.up.pt) is currently Assistant Professor of Criminology at the School of Criminology – Faculty of Law of the University of Porto, as well as Director and founding member of the Interdisciplinary Research Center on Crime, Justice and Security – CJS. She holds a PhD in Criminology, Masters in Sociology and a Degree in Law. She has been teaching at the Undergraduate and Masters in Criminology, as well in Doctoral Schools and research seminars in other European universities.

Her research interests include white-collar crime, financial, corporate and environmental crime. She has also been researching and written about the History and Epistemology of Criminology, mainly in Portugal, as well as research misconduct. In May 2015, she was awarded the Excellence in Doctoral Research on Research Integrity Award for “Creative and critical use of theory for understanding research behavior”, at the Doctoral Forum of the 4th World Conference on Research Integrity.

She is board member of the European Society of Criminology’s European Working Group on Organizational Crime (EUROC) and Working-Group on Qualitative Research Methodologies and Epistemologies (WG-QRME). Currently, she is also part of the Editorial Board of Crime, Law & Social Change and, more recently, of The Journal of Qualitative Criminal Justice and Criminology.
